Egghead Productions – Rocklin Announces Completion of its new Sound Stage in Rocklin, CA (4/21/2007) – Egghead Productions in Rocklin, CA announces completion of its first full service video production studio.

To meet the increasing needs for professional videos, Egghead's has expands its capacity by building out fully equipped production studio. The new studio will meet the needs of its commercial clients for producing professional videos for training, promotions, events, documentaries and commercials

The studio is equipped with the latest equipment including HD cameras, chromo-key set, and audio and lighting systems. The production studio further extends Egghead's 6500 sq ft video production facility which currently is comprised of two fully equipped non-linear edit bays, sound booth and duplication systems.

Bill Murphy, President of Egghead said: "We are excited that we can now offer Sacramento clients a studio location to film their videos. Studio "A", the smaller of two planned studios, is perfect for small scale videos such as corporate presentations, product launches and event opening videos. This summer, we plan on develop studio "B" which will be substantially larger and can accommodate more complex projects"
